There are various airy dances and pretty gowns in the play, which may aid its specialties in making a place for it on Broadway, but it may scarcely be said to be unfortunate that "The Catch" was caught early in the season, while audiences are fresh. Reopening of the Colonial.

Percy G. Williams's Colonial Theater was reopened yesterday with a strong vaudeville bill. There were four topliners headed by Miss Helen Bertram, who rendered "Cupid and I," "The Bungalow" and other songs in her usual brilliant manner. Other features were Dan McAvoy and his Fifth Avenue Girls, Henry Lee, and John C. Rice and Solly Cohen.

BROTHERS REUNITED.

The Thompsons, Separated Soon After Father's Murder in 1885.

Two brothers who had been parted since 1885, in which year their father was mysteriously murdered in New York city, have just been reunited. They are Frank W. Thompson, 25 years old, of 686 Warren street, Brooklyn, and William J. Thompson, 31 years old, a resident of Roselle, N. J. Their father, William Thompson, who was in the printing business, was found dead on Jan. 16, 1885, at his home, 22 Broome street, under circumstances indicating foul play, but the crime was never cleared up. Within a year the wife of Thompson died, leaving the two sons, William and Frank, 5 and 11 years old, respectively and a daughter, Josephine, aged 13 years. The children were separated a few months after the death of the mother, being placed in the care of relatives living at a considerable distance from each other. In fact, they grew up without being aware of one another's ex-

Incidentally, he heard, a week or so ago, that his brother Frank was living in Brooklyn and active in baseball circles. Following up this clue, he found that a Frank W. Thompson was president of the "All-Brooklyn Baseball Club," and after a brief correspondence with him established the fact that he was his brother.

The brothers met by appointment on Sunday afternoon and spent the day at Frank's home in Brooklyn. They will now try and locate their sister, who is supposed to have gone West about ten years ago.

DEATH FOR GIRL AND HIMSELF. Young Southerner's Double Crime Because Marriage Was Delayed.

Barber, a young clerk in the office of the American Car and Foundry Company, late this afternoon shot and killed Miss Marletta Denny and then blew out his own brains. The tragedy occurred beneath an old apple tree in front of the home of Mrs. Mary Denny, an aunt of the girl, with whom she had made her home. Mrs. Denny was trying to console the girl for the recent death of her parents. Barber and Miss Denny were engaged to be married next month.

When Barber called to sympathize with her she told him that it would be best to postpone the wedding until spring, but Barber insisted that the marriage be not delayed. After pleading in vain he killed Miss Denny and himself.

COWBOY EVANGELISTS TALK.

On Their Way to Europe Tell Brooklyn Folk All About Their Convention.

Three Texas cowpunchers, John F. Roberts, C. E. The cook at the hotel was the first to discover the safe in the rear of the place, about 200 yards away. She called the proprietor, Bimon Glaser, and a hurried investigation was made. The safecrackers had used table linen and bedclothing to deaden the noise in wheeling the safe. They afterward used bedclothing to deaden the report.

They afterward used bedclotning to deaden the report.

A sledgehammer was used to dispose of the hinges and combination. Afterward a hole was drilled in the door of the safe. Mr. Glaser and Chief of Police James Layton think that the safecrackers were thoroughly acquainted with the premises, as they not only removed the big safe without awakening the guests, but succeeded in getting past the night watchman.

We are reaching into every part of the world for entertaining and instructive material. Soon we shall have some material from Dillon Wallace, who is again in Labrador for us, and from Caspar Whitney, giving an account of his recent venture on the headwaters of the Orinoco River. This month we present "LONDON FROM THE TOP OF A BUS," which Ralph D. Paine was especially commissioned to get for us. London is full of strange types, and neither Paine nor his camera missed any of them. If you want to enjoy a clever thing, full of fine humor, read Sewell Ford's

"THE RIDE OF HIS LIFE"

Among the other good things of this issue is the story of "THE LAST WAR OF THE CATTLE RANGE," which is full of the romance and vigor and action of those pioneer days of the West when men were killed before breakfast and no especial concern had as to their burial.

THE BACKBONE OF OUR NATIONAL LIFE

is the farmer. All wealth proceeds from the soil, and that nation which neglects to make agriculture a chief concern among all its industries cannot maintain a first rank in the family of nations. The United States looks after its farmers, and as a result we feed the world. Yet comparatively few farmers, and much less the average citizen, know what the Government is always doing to help the agricultural interests of this country. "WHAT THE PLANT BUREAU IS DOING FOR THE FARMER" tells the story in a way that will interest every one. There are no more engrossing chapters in the stories of nations than those that tell of the period when Russia was making history—infamous history, by the way—in the Far East. In

"OUTLAW HUNTERS OF RUSSIA"

Agnes C. Laut gives the second paper in this series, and one that is full of adventure and human interest. The accompanying pictures are remarkable as being the actual ones taken by the Siberian exiles so many years ago. Besides all the above, the September number contains "THE FALLACIES OF ROUGHING IT," a story of the woods. "PHEASANT SHOOTING IN CHINA," a paper for the sportsman. "WHERE TWO GREAT RIVERS MEET," a story of human life, with a strong, especial appeal to the Middle West. "MISTAKES OF THE AMATEUR DOG-TRAINER," a confession that will touch every one who owns a dog. "TOLL FROM THE SALMON HOST," a tale of salmon fishing in Puget Sound. "WHEN THE RAILROAD CAME," a story

This number contains, also, the closing installment of "THE ROMANCE OF RED FOX," the brilliant animal story by Chas. G. D. Roberts, and an article on JOHN PAUL JONES—the man. All that has been published of this famous sailor has had to do with his achievements on the sea, but this story tells of the surroundings and the upbuilding of the boy who grew into the man we know. The departments, which are the helpful ends of the magazine, are particularly full and valuable. These range from everyday woodcraft for everyday people to practical hints to help automobile owners. Of course the interests of the outdoor man are served seasonably in the field of fishing, of camping, of his dogs, of lawn tennis, of golf, and, in the college world, of football. In a word, it covers all topics touching broadly upon our national life and literature. It is intensely American and
